Photoshop Elements is a free version of Photoshop and is an excellent alternative to Photoshop for novice users and those wanting to edit image files but don't want to commit to the $800+ of Photoshop. However, even though it's free, it's far from being a beginner level program. * Illustrator is Adobe's commercial design software that is used to design graphics for websites, books, and other printed matter, among other applications. * InDesign is Adobe's page layout software. It enables you to create pages for a book, magazine, or other printed item. * SketchBook is a feature-rich drawing and image-editing program that Adobe calls its RapidDraw app. SketchBook is designed for both novice and experienced artists to create, draw, and paint on screen or paper. It can also be used for sketching and image editing. If you're trying to teach yourself to paint or draw, SketchBook is a great program to get started with. * Flash is the program used to create animated Flash programs that display on the web. It's not a graphics editor, though, as it's usually used for displaying Flash movies rather than images. * Premiere and * Media Encoder are two different programs that enable you to create video and audio presentations. Preliminary effects of safranal on the central nervous system. The present study was planned to examine the effects of Safranal on the central nervous system in mice. Fifteen mice each were divided into five groups: Group I: control, Group II: received 50 mg/kg Safranal (oral), Group III: received 250 mg/kg Safranal (oral), Group IV: received Safranal (10 mg/kg-ip) and Group V: received Safranal (50 mg/kg-ip). At the end of the five-week study period, the animals were observed in the hole board test for spontaneous locomotor activity and rearing, and in the elevated plus maze to assess anxiety behavior. In the elevated plus maze, the number of entries into open and closed arms and the percentage of time spent in each, were recorded. In the hole board, the latency time to enter a dark chamber was measured. The data showed significant differences between the control and Safranal-treated mice in the hole board, elevated plus maze and the time spent in each, as compared to the control. These data suggest that Safranal alters the emotional status of the animals. Further, the present study suggests that Safranal possesses anxiolytic properties.Q: Problems with doing multiple file uploads in one page I'm having issues while trying to submit multiple files in one page. A two-day strike by some of Kenya's top sugar producers has been disrupted by a violent demonstration in the capital, Nairobi. Singing and chanting, around 2,000 demonstrators armed with sticks, petrol bombs and home-made guns marched through Nairobi streets on Tuesday and broke through police barricades. They dispersed only after shots were fired warning them to stay out of a central district. Police said the demonstration was organised by the Kenya Sugar Millers Association (Kesama) with the aim of disrupting Tuesday's auction of sugar in Nairobi. The union said the cut in production was justified because sugar prices in the international market were higher than in Kenya. The auction of 44,000 tonnes of sugar was disrupted last month when the sugar millers blocked major roads leading to the port in Mombasa for a day. A few weeks later Kesama boss Joseph Kuria was locked in a fight with police at the port in Mombasa after his union said he was assaulted by security personnel. This left six officers injured as a crowd gathered to support the union. The new dispute centres on the fact that sugar mills are not allowed to sell to domestic buyers - a provision designed to prevent price fixing by cartels. The millers say this is unfair because they are forced to sell to domestic buyers at the international price, whereas the sugar traders are allowed to buy at the local price. The government is discussing whether to set a maximum price for sugar in the domestic market to end the standoff but details are still being worked out. The department of agriculture said this year's harvest will be a record 17.9 million tonnes. It will have a positive impact on the price, as cheaper supplies mean the price of the two big export markets, India and China, will rise further. Authorities said in 2012-2013 the country exported a record 23.4 million tonnes. The country's sugar, tea, coffee and cacao industries are among the most important sources of income in the east African nation.Q: Selecting of multiple check boxes not working in PHP I am making a web application that will compare values from different fields.
